

Capacity surcharges on road transportation are expected

The road freight market is under great pressure. The economic growth in Europe has created a high demand but lack of trucks and drivers lead to a market with scarce capacity to meet the demand.

The situation puts freight sellers and buyers under pressure. Therefore, many of the larger actors in the industry have decided to adjust their freight costs to balance the expectations of costs and service level - either by increasing the freight rates or by introducing a capacity surcharge.

Naturally, SGL Road is subject to the same situation. We follow the development closely to assess to what extent it will affect our transport activities. However, SGL Road will possibly also need to introduce a capacity surcharge. If so, it will be announced on our website and/or directly to our customers.
